WE NOMINATE

Michael Charles Kopliner, 63-year old Princetonian, who this week—some 41 years after he first saw Nassau Street and following 37 years of devoted service to Town and Gown—is courageously waging a losing battle for his life. A university proctor since the fall of 1923 and for the past 15 years head of the non-uniformed force responsible for maintaining order on the University Campus, Kopliner, possibly better than any other mortal Princetonian, qualifies as a "living legend." For literally 1,000's of Princeton alumni scattered throughout the world, mention of "Mike" stirs memories of a slouchy felt hat, a near-incredible capacity for recalling details and a rare understanding of undergraduate foibles.

Twice in recent weeks Kopliner's career, spanning the administrations of three university presidents (Hibben, Dodds, Goheen) and linking the somnolent college town of the 1920's with traffic-throttled Princeton Today, has been understandably highlighted in university publications. Both the Princeton Alumni Weekly and year-old University have emphasized "The World of the 'Campus Cop'", the world in which the energetic Kopliner "spends time, occasionally months of it, rescuing some perfectly normal student who, in a moment of ebullience of unexplainable perversity, has done something foolish."

These campus-oriented accounts, as excellent and searching as they were, failed to point up Kopliner's many contributions to the Borough, and to the Princeton Area, in an infinite number of ways. This native of Elmhurst, N. Y., the son of a pressman, served along the Mexican Border in 1916. A brief interval with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit preceded his return to wartime duty with the 27th Infantry Division. He spent well over a year in Europe, earned three battle stars and re-enlisted in 1919 to become sergeant instructor in the Army's Princeton ROTC Unit.

Kopliner, tremendously proud of the fact that his two sons are members of the Princeton Borough and Township Police Departments and still concerned with Robert F. Goheen's development as a squash racquets enthusiast, lost little time in projecting himself into local affairs, including politics, service organizations and athletics. In 1926 he pitched a no-hit, no-run game for a nondescript Princeton nine; in 1933 he managed the Princeton baseball team that carried off the title in the Central Jersey League; and, shortly after World War II, gave his much younger opponent a stiff run for top honors in the initial Princeton tennis championships.

A confirmed Democrat for as long as he can remember, and extremely pleased with the accomplishments of a one-time Princetonian, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Kopliner served a three-year term as a member of Borough Council and won plaudits for his work as first chairman in 1945-46 of the Veterans' Welfare Committee. His other outside interests are indicative of the scope of his enthusiasm for things that are worthwhile: direction of both the Playground Program and Boy Scout activities, membership in the First Aid Unit, insistence upon publicly maintained recreational facilities, and participation in youth ventures sponsored either by the Knights of Columbus or American Legion.

For discharging his difficult, and frequently thankless, duties in a manner that has merited the respect of all segments of Princeton; for believing implicitly in the potential of oncoming generations; for understanding — better than most parents — the folksways of "young-adult delinquents"; he is our nominee for Children roam, say hello to friends (the same families turn up at auctions after auctions) or curl up on the porch to read until parents get tired of the loathsome heat.

Next week? Well, there's a square dance in the parking lot of the Crayon Lane School in Lower Hoppers Brook Saturday night, July 23. After that, more auctions, carnivals and clam-bakes. After all, that's what summer's for.

PERSONALITIES

Mrs. John R. Lastry, Cherry Valley Road, chairman of the Princeton Committee Against Unfriendly Playing Cards, has an invasion of young city-dwellers sent here by the Herald-Tribune's Fresh Air Fund. For a heart-warming report? When it was over, she spent two weeks in Princeton, one young guest wistfully told her hostess, "You know, I could stay longer . . .", see pages 15-17.

E. Franklin Banta, 38 Nassau Street, is a man of innumerable business, civic and municipal organizations, and veteran of more meetings called for the public good, than most modern electrical companies can imagine up to now. In this week led the Township Planning Board out of a temporary labyrinth into which its members had convolved themselves. Mr. Banta's statement, which may well serve as a model for other belligerently-drawn bodies: "I make the motion that should be made to do the thing we all think is right."

ROUND UP

It's not serious yet, but a dry spell is with us, a fact which the hundred or so rainfall totals that read near normal, a good part of this month's precipitation came in the form of a cloudburst, the 15th of July, and that's off little value to vegetation since it runs off so quickly. The second day of the year on which the thermometer topped 90° last Saturday, the thermometer read 91°. These sun days are average for a New Jersey summer, with the July shortage to date quite welcome.

A 16-year old girl was considerably frightened and otherwise upset when accused by an unidentified man Saturday while waiting for her father to call for her after the teen-agers at Princeton High School police reported she had picked up Frenchmen between Washington and Linden Lane when she resisted a man's attentions, screamed and frightened him away. Police have his description as "about five feet, white, medium build, shirtless, wearing blue jeans, unshaven."

FIRE! It was 60 years ago that the cry was answered by Rocky Hill Fire Company Number One with this chemical "engine." Drawn by manpower and ropes, it rolled to the scene for many years before it was replaced by a truck, and it is now on display in all the dignity of its retirement, at the fire company's station (see fall issue, page 11). Built in 1899, it was used to haul the engine when it was an active fireman, Edward McVeigh, shown in harness with his team, occasionally pulled the engine in parades and exhibitions. The vehicle was made in 1899. (Staff Photo)

COUNTY PLANS OPPOSED
For Road at Lawrence. A petition bearing 183 signatures has been presented to the Lawrence Township Planning Board by residents of Lawrence, Township and nearby areas who oppose the announced plans of Mercer County for a cross-country road which would take the through-traffic out of Princeton.

The Lawrence Board will hold a public hearing on the proposed road this month on a date to be announced later. According to present county plans, the road would be a continuation of the part of County 533 that now begins at Clarksville on Route One and goes to Port Mercer. At Port Mercer, it would form a part with Quaker Road, going right and Province Line going left. The county would like to make a cross cut of the "T" and cut a road through the land now owned by the Stuart Reed company.

From there, the road would proceed to an intersection with Princeton Pike and thence to an intersection with Route 206. It would then cross Province Line and run further across country to an intersection with Route 1 between Carter Road and Province Line, near the Rosedale Road entrance to Educational Testing Service.

The signers of the petition are concerned because the County would have a 70-foot right of way, which is wide enough for a four-lane highway. However, Louis Calvanali, county planning engineer, says, "We are not about to build a four-lane highway. When the road is built, it will probably be the minimum 22 feet wide. We have specified 70 feet in order to take care of the future."

"White Horse" Road? The road, under way so far, but sometimes called "White Horse" because it begins there, has been on the County's Master Plan map since 1916. The map was adopted in 1954. The road has come to the attention of the Lawrence residents recently because of hearings in connection with the Lawrence Township Master Plan.

County engineers point out that a new road is needed to provide a wide access to Route One than a widened Province Line. It would be difficult to widen Province Line, engineers say, because so much land is already built on that road. The new road, however, would go across land which is largely unoccupied at present.

Mr. Calvanali points out that, in planning the new road, the County is looking ahead 10 or 20 years to the time when the open fields across which the road would travel will be subdivided and used for housing developments. If property owners do not sell their land (about 13 houses are involved), and it remains in its present state, the road will not be built he says.

"We have no time table and no particular date," Calvanali reports. "We hope we never need the road and we certainly won't throw money away building roads we don't need."

MRS. JONES TO RETIRE
From Hospital Position. Mrs.

Cecilie Jones, director of the Social Service Department at Princeton Hospital since its establishment 14 years ago, will retire this Friday. After an extended vacation, she will return to hospital work as a member of the volunteer staff.

Mrs. Jones organized the department in October, 1936, and has watched it grow to a division that serves the Princeton area, a year ago, 250 inpatients and more than 300 as outpatients. All this free care is given by Mrs. Jones' department only after extensive investigation and the most exhaustive study of each case. As a result, Mrs. Jones has acquired, over the years, an encyclopedic Lines were obligingly erased by the Borough but a decade later the traditions crossover in as heavy use as ever.

Eve Arden is starring in McArden's current summer production, "Over Twenty-One," which Town Topics classed as "an uneven, dated war-time comedy carried by Miss Arden with her cousin and essay brand of wit." It's at the Playhouse. It was Claudette Colbert in "Secret Fury," while the Garden offered a rerun of "The Big Broadcast of 1937" and "Dust in the Dust," starring Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon.

The American Veterans Committee compared to "Town Topics" a spot page to "The streaking Philadelphia Phillies" boasted an 8-0 mark as it held first place in the B Softball League members included Harry Card, Sid Reis, Slim Mose, Art Close, Phil Bell, Jim Delano, Ralph Close, Chris Gruber, Tom Hartman and Ernie Stewart. In the men's tennis tour, the rain-drenched men's doubles tennis tournament were Simeon Hunter and Jess Eptstein, Guy Woodward and Tom Whalin, Bob Gheen and Paul Gandy, Bayard Johnson and Vic Payne.

Town Topics carried 12 inches of classified ads (in contrast to more than 30 this week). The Township Committee, noting the 6% percent population gain in the past decade, was concerned over increasing sewage disposal problems in a nearby community, a concern which couldn't get enough of fighting fires set a couple himself but never got to them because police nabbed him at the firehouse warming up the engine before the alarm sounded.

knowledge of Princeton: it has been noted that she knows more Princeton residents than anyone except the mayor.

The retiring social service director who incidentally makes her home in Tinton, first became known to many Princetonians when she was chief clerk of Mercer County Selectmen's Service Board, Number One. Serving in that post for over four years, she was responsible for maintaining individual records of more than 10,000 residents of seven Mercer municipalities.

In addition to directing the social service department, Mrs. Jones has been active in the Mercer County Chapter of the National Foundation, serving as secretary of the organization. She has also been on the Mercer County Hospital Committee. From 1953 to 1957, she held the office of president of the Soroptimist Club of Princeton.

When Coville Jones talks about taking a vacation, she means going to the beach. The Joneses have a houseboat anchored in Barnegat Bay and they will head for the shore as soon as possible. Her husband, Ralph H. Jones, teaches in the Trenton Public Schools.

Mrs. Jones' position at Princeton Hospital will be taken by Mrs. Grace Fry, who will assume her new duties on Friday.

WHAT'S ON THE AGENDA? The Township Committee, which Town Topics Committee holds its second regular July meeting Monday at 8:30, it will act on four new ordinances. One will provide a Tax Incremental property tax on the All Saints Chapel property. Another will legalize the property transfers made when Mercer County realigned part of Pretty Brook Road, and a third will authorize the closing of a portion of Pretty Brook beginning where the present paving stops. A final new ordinance will authorize the Township to seek advice in consultants' fees for advice on how to finance a sewer master plan, and $400 for a consultant assistant to Township Attorney George G. Gaffin in drawing up proper standards for light industry.

Committee members will consider a letter from Arthur L. O'Neil, of the Ridgeview Heights organization asking permission to bring a sewer trunk line from The Great Road to Ridgeview intersection. The Great Road to the existing Mountain Avenue trunk, Ridgeview Heights would boast

RECREATION AREA ASKED
Township Wants Dedication. The Township Planning Board at its Monday night meeting requested the developer of Princeton Country Estates to dedicate three of the major areas for recreational purposes. The three-quarter acre lots lie between Terhune Road and the proposed Dodd's Lane and have been reserved for recreation.

In other action on the preliminary plan for the subdivision along Terhune east of Snowdon Lane, to be developed by Carl Geiger, the developer, Board required that curbs be placed on both sides of all streets, and sidewalks, on one side of every street except Terhune. This follows the Board's policy of requiring sidewalks on all streets within a mile of a school.

The Board also approved with

"MAJOR BARBARA"

Play by Gitta Shaw's Comedy. The University Players will offer George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" as the fourth play of their 1964 season. The Shawian comedy concerns a rich and unscrupulous father who is shocked to learn that his Salvation Army girl with a rich and unscrupulous father is scheduled for $3.00 p.m. next Monday through Saturday.

Starring as the idealistic young woman who hopes to find happiness through love of God and her fellow man will be Joann Merlin, a member of the cast of the recent off-Broadway production of "Major Barbara." Walter Hiken, who appeared in the Players' production of "The Upstarts," will play the rough father who believes money can satisfy all his physical needs.

Also appearing in "Major Barbara" will be Rosemary Murphy, who is featured as Cassandra in this week's latest top-secret Alfred Hitchcock production. Unfortunately all the buzz has been an attempt to put a special label on what is little more than typical Hitchcock television production stretched out to almost two hours.

Not that we have anything against the master of spine-tingling mysteries—it's just that 100 minutes of strained camera angles, tight details, chicanery, implausibility and engulfling suspense are a bit too much. Admittedly, there is a good trick ending which is intended to be a surprise. But the fact is there are two well-constructed women (Vera Miles and Janet Leigh), a taxidermist (Anthony Perkins) with a mother who does not fit the norm, a competent doctor, a mother should be like, and the necessary paraphernalia for any mystery, such as a sheriff (John McIntire) and private investigator (John McIntire).

Hitchcock's accessories in this production include Joseph Hurley and Robert Cloworthy, art directors, Saul Bass, pictorial consultant responsible for the clever title card, Bernard Herrmann, who put together the musical score. Oh yes, we nearly forgot: "Psycho" takes place in a haunted motel!

"Pollyanna" (July 20-26) shouldn't alienate anyone short of Scrooge himself. On the other hand, the light remake of Eleanore H. H. Ulmer's best seller won't make many people sit down and think about its message, either. Produced under the notion that what appeals to 12-year olds should appeal to everyone, it is an easy-going story about small-town America.

Hayley Mills has received well-deserved praise for her performance as the pale, pale daughter of British actor John Mills, she comes complete with British accent and excuse for it written into the script. Supporting Miss Mills are a host of stars with many years screen experience, including Jane Wyman, Richard Egan, Karl Malden, Nancy Olson, Adolphe Menjou, Donald Sinden, James Mason, and others. They are all dumped into a small town in the Midwest and Pollyanna proceeds to take her toll.

In case you haven't guessed it and haven't seen the advertisements, it should be mentioned that "Pollyanna" is a Walt Disney production, and, of course, in color. David Seltzer directed and wrote the script. The production is designed to tug at —Continued on Page 6

IT'S NEW To Us

BUT DO WE NEED ONE?

A Raccoon? That is. The only answer to that question is "You betcha!" Personally, we regard the question of need as second to the question of aesthetics: a baby raccoon is one of the most appealing furry animals you could ever lay your eyes on, and it can be tamed to eat right out of your garbage can—no, not right out of your platter.

They tell us at Noah's Ark, 29 Nassau, where they have raccoons for sale these days ($30), that a young raccoon will indeed wash his hands, just the way the folk tale says: if you give him a pair of white gloves to operate in. He also needs a house to show him how. (A female raccoon.)

The diet of the raccoon in captivity is broad and varied. He will eat vegetables, fruit (try a little brandy over the sugared peaches), meat and milk and anything else that's edible. (At least, the Noah's Ark raccoons come from Maryland; he will probably prefer bourbon to Scotch.)

From another part of the forest, the Ark has Texas horned toads for $1.95. They had burrowed into some gravel when we saw them, but they seemed docile enough when we tried to extract them as horned toad, some four inches long, look prehistoric and absolutely intimidating, of course, but he is actually a perfectly agreeable sort of guy and he loves to have his stomach gently scratched.

Not much larger than the toad is the cotton-tail rabbit, a bushy creature with white tufts bristling out of his ears. He looks belligerent, but perhaps you will, if you are very small.

We prefer the woolly monkey that chucks like a mother hen and hesitates at the open door of his cage because it's not sure it wants to go outside. He is a tiny, woolly monkey fur like clipped beaver and he could give a lesson in neatness to Lulu, the stub-tailed chimp. She needs a permanent.

The chinchilla was asleep like a dormouse when we paid a call. Nocturnal, you know.

Take a gander. A gander is like a hamster, but with a long fury tail and better manners. There aren't very many ganders around in pet shops and Noah's Ark has the only one he has. Not so proud, however, that it won't sell you one or two.

We like the bullet board in front of the shop where people advertise for lost pets or offer to give away baby rabbits. When we saw the board, there was a frantic red-chalked offer from a hard - pressed aquarium owner with millions of free black mollies to give away.

Next time you roast frankfurters on a stick, or barbecue a sandwich over the grill, use your picnic table with a handsome new tablecloth from Philip Farkouh in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Philip Farkouh's great not to double the kitchen. The cloth, a round one, is made of the finest Alencon lace in deep ecru. Around its circumference is a parchment border.

Venice wanted to perfectly in Venice, wove it especially in France by French craftsmen. Farkouh displays it in a 90-inch version for $165, or a 72-inch one for $65.

Now, if your table is oblong, why may you prefer (for those barbecue guests) a three-yard cloth of white organdy appliquéd with sprays of leaves and flowers, sometimes in white, sometimes in the palest shades of blue or pink. The border is white linen, joined to the body of the cloth with a scroll and scallop design. The price of cloth and 12 napkins is $165.

Each dinning room, an organdy cloth with flower appliqués and a deep band of linen around the border.

These charming cloths come in white with a floral or aqua, pink, yellow or blue border. In contrast to the giant cloth we described above with its spray of flowers, (see box), this cloth has a single bloom of color. A narrow border picks up the flower color and outlines the very rim of the cloth.

For truly informal dining, Farkouh suggests a linen cloth in heavy thick-and-thin weave with a blue wavy and white wavy, or maize and white. The cloth also comes in solid pink, maize or natural, and it will drape smooth enough to eschew the iron if you hang it carefully from a line.

Linen is used against Belgian mats that display scenes of Venice, London, Paris, and even the Michal in colorful shades of rose, turquoise or blue. They have foam backs and cost 98 cents.

Other linen mats, without the foam, present stylized branches of bamboo in black, orange and white against a pale green-ripe

Report from THE MAYOR

Princeton At Los Angeles. Many Princeton residents are in Los Angeles this week for the Convention. Borough Council President Richard A. Lester and Mrs. Lester arrived on Sunday.

Working here is young James Murray Kempton, Jr., of Edgewater Road, while his Dad, the well-known newspaper columnist, is covering the Convention. Also here is Fred Vandever for Mutual Radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Thor Lord are here with Mr. Lester, kept on with the work of the Convention by the Platform Committee. The Morven residents—Governor and Mrs. Meyer—are working hard, keeping the more than 400 Jerseyans at this national meeting.

Princeton and Puerto Rico. Also here, as guests and delegates, are a host of mayors and other local officials from every state. The Princeton Mayor had a chance to renew his acquaintance with the attractive Mayor of Puerto Rico, Don Pedro Ríos de Gómez.

For 4 years this dynamic woman has worked tirelessly as chief executive of that great city, often putting in an 80-hour week and seldom taking a day off to rest. Sharing experiences with such a dedicated mayor can be a helpful enterprise.

Mayors Meet. Five mayors met here this weekend, and their towns' populations total nearly 15 million. Five other mayors are living here normally—residencies, and some just for a day off to rest. Sharing experiences with such a dedicated mayor can be a helpful enterprise.

them, mayors of large towns and small, seem to be faced with much the same problems.

Big Small Town. However the central figure here is a small town. Nevertheless, its influence is felt everywhere, and almost everyone has had some contact with Princeton.

One example. A retired gentleman spotted our New Jersey license plates in a gasoline station, inquired about our home town, and then proudly identified himself as an architect who worked on the design of many Princeton buildings notably Blair and Stanford Halls, and the University dormitories. He moved on to the University of California at Berkeley here and supervised the building program of the University there—the past several years. From him, and from many others, the Mayor will bring back pockets full of messages to Princeton people from friends and former neighbors across the country.

Open House. It seems likely that several additional mayors will inaugurate their "open house" this weekend during the coming months. This Mayor looks forward to resuming these informal meetings upon arrival home—there is no better way to measure the concerns, and to learn the views, of interested citizens.

olive background, with four white napkins to match. The set is $4.85.

Red, olive and avocado circles, like Christmas ornaments, are arranged on a white linen mat. Inside each circle, waiting to crow at your breakfast, is a rooster and around the whole is a red scroll border.

Another linen mat has a tossed salad on it. Not from a careless guest, but from the hand of a skill-accredited artist, the mat has embroidery or applique against solid lemon, gold, chocolate brown, beige or turquoise lining.

Flap-backed plastic mats come in many colors and styles, and you could begin with a solid yellow or toast-colored one with a half inch border formed by a row of stars. As you move on to a full-backed tree whose arching boughs form the top of the mat,

The bottom is straight, with scallops artfully "embroidered" on the plastic. A companion mat has a conventional border of fruits in grey against the solid color, these being cranberries, blue, yellow or grey. You'll like a pale yellow one whose shade has been achieved by mounting a frosted plastic sheet over brilliant plastic.

For the bridge set there is a bridge set of Belgian linen with a center diamond of lace and cut-work, and matching triangles in each corner. It's $14.50, but other bridge sets start at $1.50.

NEW PLAY OPENS

"The Prodigal" at Murray. Jack Richardson, a 24-year-old playwright with more skill than years, has fastidiously adapted a play from the ancient legend of Orestes, the reluctant hero. "The Prodigal" opened Tuesday night at Murray Theatre as the third offering from The University Players, and it will run through Saturday.

In his re-telling of the legend, Richardson has set Agamemnon, the returning King of Argos, against Orestes, the poor regent who has taken advantage of Agamemnon's ten-year absence in the Trojan war to appropriate both his wife, Clytemnestra, and his kingdom.

Agamemnon is a blunt and ruthless soldier who sees Man as he ought to be and who drives his wife to her疯狂的罪行。Aegisthus pride himself on his humility, and sees Man as he is: the weak pawn of arrogant gods.

In between stands Orestes, Agamemnon's son, a boy who, like his father's legendary heroics, bitter and cynical of principles which could justify Agamemnon's sacrifice of Orestes' sisters Iphigenia, and the death of thousands of men in battle. Orestes is also wryly amused at Aegisthus' pompous poetry and his manipulation of the temple priest, and he refuses to take the part of either man against the other.

In his refusal to become involved, he allows his father to stain. He must then face a world in which everyone expects him to become precisely what he does not wish to be: his father's avenger, that is, a killing who kills. In the end he makes of himself the popular avenging hero, "because I am not great enough to create anything better."

"The Prodigal" is highly verbal—almost verbal. As directed by Roger Richardson, it moves with stately dignity, which might be euphemism for slowness of pace, except that the play is as also moving as it might be, well phrased by its author that deliberateness becomes a virtue rather than a flaw.

This is not to say that "The Prodigal" is flawless. Frequently Mr. Richardson lets scenes drag on longer than they should. He has equipped some of his characters with lines like "Oh, if only you had not married her," and "And he has placed Orestes' 'rebirth' too far from the beginning and too close to the end."

But he has retold, in a thoughtful, lyrical craft. George Segal, properly introduced and elegant as Orestes, and Richard Hudson, in his early scenes, is a delightful Pythias. M. Throne (who seems to have no first name) is a tough and weary Agamemnon. Chester Doherty carries off Aegisthus with the proper combination of humility and conceit.

Rosemary Murphy, given the equivalent of star billing on the program, plays a middle-aged Cassandra who weaves baskets and the future with equal skill. She is possibly the most professional actress of the cast, in spite of an inability to remember her lines. (Orestes has trouble with his, too, but he knows how to make his lapses serve the plot, in a most artful train of thought.) As Clytemnestra, Lucille Patton is more Madison Avenue than Agora, but at least she makes Aegisthus' lusts seem believable.

Richard Cummings has composed some bony music scored for trumpets and percussion and nicely complements the story. The single set uses lighting most effectively for changes of mood and scene and Betty Matta has done both lights and sets with imagination. Diane Dill has combined music and ancient dress, outfitting her soldiers in World War II fatigues and her Greek matrons in empire-waisted robes. Clytemnestra and Aegisthus are particularly well-dressed.

On the whole, "The Prodigal" is a thoroughly successful production, a refreshing relief after last week's uniformly dreary "The Underpants" and perhaps hopeful prognosis, if one may paraphrase Cassandra, of the future.

Whoas Playgrounds?

"Sometimes it seems as if there are more dogs than children," said C. Edward Christopher, Princeton Borough supervisor, in a statement asking parents to separate the children from the dogs before they send the children to a playground in the morning. Dogs frequently frighten young children, and are a disturbing influence on the playground, Mr. Christopher said. He has also cited Borough and Township ordinances regarding dogs, which might be applied in the playground. Some parents continue to allow dogs to run loose in playground areas. "One angry dog, sent home by the instructor in charge, stole a sandwich on his way out," Mr. Christopher reports.

the guidance of Dr. William F. MacCalmont, president of the College, and Dr. H. Torrey Walker, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

A charter member of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Erdman served the college more than 25 years as chaplain, teacher and counselor to Westminster students.

It was 35 years ago in Dayton, Ohio, that Dr. John F. Williamson, founder of the Westminster Choir, expanded to Dr. Erdman his idea for a college where young men and women would be trained to serve churches of all denominations in the field of music.

Founded by the idea, Dr. Erdman returned to Princeton and arranged a conference of the presidents of Princeton University, Princeton Theological Seminary and the governor of New Jersey. They decided to invite the new Westminster Choir College to make its home in Princeton.

Hoping to find a financial backer for the project, Dr. Erdman invited Mrs. J. Livingston Taylor of Cincinnati to hear the Westminster Choir, which was then located in Dayton. Dr. Erdman's hopes had only extended to a contribution from Mrs. Taylor, but instead she gave a cannon and the four major buildings now occupied by the college.

Dr. Erdman was a Presbyterian churchman, author, teacher and civic leader. He died in Princeton last spring.

By Hook and Ladder Company.

The annual target-shoot and outing of the Princeton Hook and Ladder Fire Company has been scheduled for Saturday at Squatton Grove, Francis Pace of 3 Levitt Lane, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which has planned the affair.

Prizes have been donated by Princeton merchants and are now on display at Hulit's Shoe Store. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

"IT'S FRESH' AIR!"

City Visitors Like It Here.
"Princeton is a nice place to visit and I wouldn't mind living here. The reason of this old saw about New York City has been expressed, through word or deed, by 26 young summer refugees from New York City who have been spending the past two weeks in Princeton area homes as the guests of families who signed up with the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund.

Eighteen more will come later in the summer. The New York newspaper's project is being sponsored here by the Junior League of Princeton with Mrs. John Lasley, Cherry Valley Road, as chairman.

"I don't want to go home," announced the seven-year-old Negro boy who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Rogers, 39 Longview. "I'm going to hide, and then come back when it's dark."

The Rogers also have, besides the Negro boy, a 10-year-old of Puerto Rican brothers, ages 6 and 9—and three boys of their own. One of the Puerto Rican children is deaf and dumb and the older brother is blind along with him as interpreter, but Mrs. Rogers says the deaf-mute gets along

Why KAMMLER Buick-Pontiac is building brick by brick

One word—permanence!

That's the important reason why the new Kammler Buick-Pontiac building on Route 206 across the road from the Princeton Airport is being built of durable brick.

But a progressive, modern automobile service organization must be built of more than bricks and mortar.

It must have enough working space to hold the cars being serviced. It must have the most modern tools and equipment. It must have scientific devices to search out hidden flaws. It must have men whose lifetime is devoted to expert automobile servicing with a smile.

All of these things are being built—brick by brick—into the new Kammler Buick-Pontiac Company.

After the last brick is in place and the mortar dry—Kammler will be ready to provide you with the most dependable service for your automobile, regardless of model or age. And for Buick and Pontiac owners in the Princeton area, Kammler will have available every approved device for proper and speedy servicing of any Buick or Pontiac car, regardless of age.

Watch those bricks become a monument of fine automobile service.

very well, but I hope he'll stay long as she watches to see that he does not run into danger he cannot perceive.

"These children need lots of attention and understanding" is Mrs. Rogers' comment on her Fresh Air visitors. "If you are indifferent, or if you are too stern, they are disturbed, but if you give them affectionate attention, they respond marvelously."

Mrs. Rogers' oldest visitor started out by exhibiting a collection of sticks. "Not many," she said, "but I have to do something." Mrs. Rogers felt that he was probably ignored at home where there are seven children in the family, so she decided to give him a great deal of attention: reading aloud, going on excursions, examining with interest the lightning bugs he found in the garden, and so on. "It worked," she says, "although he's still a handful!"

BOY UP A TREE: Larry Marham, Fresh Air guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, Trenton, tries a new kind of sky-scraper and decides that the "old" kind of new is better. He never had a "sky-scraper" summer-time visit to the Turners. Many Fresh Air hosts invite their city guests back for repeat visits, and the guests come eagerly. Only one Fresh Air visitor has been so homesick for steaming sidewalks that he had to go back home.

HEY, LOOK AT THE BIG ONE! John Huller peers at sulphur crystals through a microscope while Mark Bahadurian waits for his turn. John has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bahadurian, 877 State Road, Princeton, through the Yonkers Herald Tribune's Fresh Air program has been sponsored in Princeton by the Princeton Chamber of Commerce for the past five summers. This year, 56 New York youngsters will visit Princeton in two-week periods.

Bed-time a Problem. The living habits of a city-bred boy are not those of a rural upbringing, and Mrs. Rogers has found that bed-time is one of the biggest differences between the two ways of life. Her visitors were accustomed to retiring around midnight in a light room with adults talking or watching television.

They ran up and down stairs in the Rogers home long after bed-time, recently because they were lone-souls. Mrs. Rogers solved the problem by allowing them to sleep downstairs. She found that they calmed down and went to sleep in time when they felt the comfort of other people around them.

"We've found the children quite immature compared in others the same age," is the observation of many Fresh Air hosts, including Mrs. Ralph Kiel, of Englewood, N.J., who has an 11-year-old girl visitor.

"She plays with dolls with my eighty-year-old and has a wondrous time," Mrs. Kiel says, "but has no common interest at all with my daughter who is her own age."

Two Weeks Too Short. Like the two Rogers' visitors, the Kiel guest is a Puerto Rican children occupied. The Walker-Gordon Rotolactor has had a spate of visitors because the classic thing to show a city child is a country fair, and excursions are kept to a minimum.

A PRIZE FOR EVERYBODY: Toads, tadpoles, turtles and rocks were exhibited at a recent Fresh Air picnic held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McMahon, Lawrenceville. Prizes of nature games, beginners' collections and books were given to winners. Richard Santini, 11, of Englewood, N.J., won the prize for the best rock, science teacher at Lawrence Township Junior High, who showed nature movies to the children at the picnic.

The Jaycees gave a picnic Saturday at Washington's Crossing and earlier in the week there was an exciting science program at the Lawrenceville home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. McMahon, where prizes were awarded for collections of rocks. —Continued on Page 17

New Taste Thrills. At this picnic one boy slipped into an ice-cold glass and said, "You've got a leaf in your drink—what is it?" When told that it was mint, he picked up a sniffed and added like a gourmet trying a new food.

Many host mothers find that food is something of a problem, particularly with a Puerto Rican guest who has a different diet at home than the standard island diet of rice, beans and chicken. Fresh vegetables and fruits are almost impossible to sell at a meal, although Mrs. Roger Morris' fascination with frozen foods One very small visitor refused to eat anything he had not seen advertised on T.V.

Almost every family says that the children are eager, helpful, polite and cooperative, if given a spoonful sometimes. Mrs. Robert C. Miller, Princeton Park, says that her five and eight-year-old girls never fail to say "please" and "thank you" although "ain't" comes out almost as often as the simple "yes."

Hosts who might have had some apprehension about petty thievery have been amused to find that the coin is in the other pocket: many of the young

IT'S BETTER THAN A FIRE HYDRANT! Keeping cool in a country picnic is much more fun than keeping cool in fire hydrant water on a hot day. Last year, the first aid of the Princeton City Fresh Air visitor to Princeton, feels confident—more or less—but she likes the security of life-belt, buoyant dumb-bells and a rubber float. With Doctor and Mrs. John L. and John L. Bailey of Cherry Hill Road, Mrs. Lasyie has one other Fresh Air girl whom she took in, and the child's hosts were unexpectedly called out of town. She is chairman of the Princeton Fresh Air program.

Guests arrive with the city child's mistrust of other children, and they refuse to leave their own money around, "Hello, I am," said one guest of his young host, but after a few days this boy felt trustful enough to leave his nickels out on the table in full view. It is refreshing to these children to find that they don't have to hide their possessions, one mother reports.

Some of the summer visitors will come back to Princeton this winter for Thanksgiving or Christmas. Correspondence between the host and guest families is quite common, and the children are eager to keep the line of communication open. Two weeks is just about the right length of time for a summer visit, most mothers feel, but it's good fun to renew friendships during the winter.

Last year, one Princeton family had as a guest a young man who scarcely said a word during his whole fortnight in Princeton. The parents were concerned about him, but a letter from his mother set everything straight: "He has been home now for a whole week," said the letter, "and he hasn't stopped talking once!"

SPECIAL DIVISIONS FORMED

By United Fund, Frank E. Taplin, chairman of the Special Gifts Division of the Princeton Community Fund, has announced completion of all six sections of his unit. The complement of two of the divisions has been announced. Hugh D. Miller will be the first of these. George A. Cannon will serve as captain, with David L. Jones, James A. Perkins, E. C. Rose, Jr. and W. W. Stevenson.

Jr. as workers Captain Wiley Critz will work with R. C. Brickey, E. C. Metcalf, W. E. Speers, Jr. and the Rev. W. D. Waggoner.

Captain Joseph Donner will have as workers Captain Sydney Blaxill, Stuart Duncan, T. G. Kane and Peter Lawson-Johnston. Mrs. Robert G. McAllen will work with Mrs. F. F. Hackl, Mrs. F. W. Hubby, H. S. McMorris and Robert Strunkys.

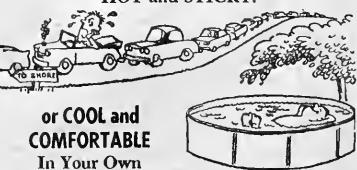

John H. Meyer will head the second of the two announced divisions. Captain Glen Hill of this group will supervise William Drew, the Rev. Peter Morris, George F. Pollock and Philip T. Smith. Mrs. H. F. Olson as captain will have Mrs. George Bowers, Mrs. M. H. Mesmer, Mrs. M. Miller and Mrs. Albert Van Exel. Workers will be Captain George G. Otis will work with Joseph A. Buck, T. W. Eglin, Alan C. Poole and Thurland T. Wilkins. Captain Fred J. W. Williams will have as workers W. W. Williams, Mrs. Arthur Colley, G. Victor Davis and Charles Magors.

Mr. Taplin will gather the 127 workers in the Special Gifts Division on June 18.

THE LENGTH WOMEN WILL GO TO: The question of the propriety of shorts on Nassau Street is compounded by the fact that women's shorts come in three distinct sizes: Bermuda, Jamaica, and short shorts. What is the difference? Well, the shorts, short shorts are not, and Jamaica—well, it depends on the wearer's figure. For comments, pro and con, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you approve of women wearing shorts on Nassau Street?

Where asked: On Nassau Street, Mrs. Reis, 224-B King Street, housewife: Yes, do. It's summer time, it's warm, and we've been emancipated, so why not take advantage of it?

Philip DiSala, 273 Witherspoon Street, janitor at Princeton University: Sure. It's much better for the women to wear much better for the men—if you know what I mean.

Mrs. John Thomas, 311 Princeton Avenue, Plainsboro, housewife: I think there's some discretion, I think women should wear anything they want.

E. A. Dixon, 1903 Hall, student at the University: Certainly. Why not? Aesthetically, it's better for the women to wear much better for the men—if you know what they should!

Mrs. Kenneth Boggs, 518 Ewing Street, housewife: No, I think shorts on girls look fine but not on Nassau Street blouses and skirts look better.

David Foley, Kingston Road, junior at Notre Dame High School: Depends on the woman. These shorts look good in them when they're worn by older women, I think, should stay away from them but there are a lot that wear them anyway.

Carney Harvey, 31 Cleveland Lane, given to the Princeton Courier 15 months from Ireland: The weather is so much hotter here in Princeton than it ever got in Ireland that you almost have to wear shorts. I think it's perfectly all right.

Stanley Pashko, 48 Linden Lane, assistant editor for Boy's Life magazine: Sure, they have every right to wear them.

Mrs. Gavri Boyd, 4 Cherrywood, housewife: It depends on the woman. Those who don't have their youth or their figure should not wear them. I feel, even some 16-year-olds are too heavy for them. It's just a matter of good taste.

Fred Gratz, 44 Humbert Street, graduate student: I think of women wearing shorts any place. When the weather is appropriate, then shorts are appropriate apparel.

Mrs. Robert Greif, 17 Clover Lane, housewife: No, I don't, although I do wear Bermuda shorts. I wouldn't appear on Nassau Street in short shorts. Nassau Street: when you are on an errand, comfort seems to be most important thing but if you are meeting someone for lunch, then it is more important to dress properly.

Melvin Linzer, 28 Witherspoon Street, graduate student: It depends on how short the shorts are. The shorts should be an independent form of dress. People can wear ordinary clothes and be dressed indecently. Except when carried to the extreme, I believe that people should be allowed to wear what they choose.

Mrs. Jane Sommer, 72 Henry Avenue, PHS graduate who will enter Radcliffe in the fall: I think short shorts aren't the proper attire but there is nothing wrong with Bermuda shorts on Nassau Street. Also, there are a great many people who wear them because it's the fashion even though it doesn't suit them.

David Frieder, 25 Bank Street, employee of Chas. F. Baymond, Inc.: They're crazy enough to wear them, it's all right. It doesn't bother me. I should think it would bother them, though.

Mrs. Jacqueline Wadsworth, 32 Spruce Street, housewife: I really don't approve of it; it's not lady-like. Everybody does it, though. I think it's all right as a riding tour. I feel it is done here more than anywhere else. Even the fellows wear them.

Henry Ludeke, 23 Bank Street, porter at University dining hall: I don't think it's all right to wear them—it makes them look younger than they are, as if they still ought to be skipping rope. I don't mind older women wearing them as long as they wear good figures.

Mrs. Edward Gorman, 105 Elm Road, housewife: It depends on what age they are. I think most women over 20 years old should not wear shorts outside their yards.

William Ratz, Princeton Avenue, Plainsboro, farmer: I don't think they should; it doesn't look dignified.

Mrs. Barbara Rose, 6 Homestead, freshman at Miss. Fine's School: I think it is all right for younger girls around 14 or 15, in the summertime, to wear shorts all right for women in the morning when they do their shopping but in the afternoon they should wear skirts and dresses.

Wearing shorts all the time is not good for their health.

Leonard Franklin, Levittown, housewife: Some should, some shouldn't. In general, no, especially the abbreviated type of shorts.

NEW JERSEY WINS
Takes Most Jaycees Honors
The New Jersey Jaycees Chamber of Commerce has more members than any other state Jaycees group at the national convention in St.
Louis.

The state organization took top honors for the number of new members and for the percentage of increase in the new members represented. During the year, 1,000 new members were recruited, in an increase of 31%.

Leonard Newton of Princeton served as state president during this period. Princetonians who attended the St. Louis convention, in addition to Mr. Newton, were Bernard Cooke, John A. Stewart,
Jr. and John Henderson.

ENTER LIGHT INDUSTRY

As Township Zoning Board acts, Princeton Township moved a step closer to allowing "light industry" within its borders last week as the Board of Adjustment acted favorably on a request for a temporary variance from the newly-formed Princeton Electronics Corporation. If the Township Committee approves the Board's resolution, which seems likely, the electronics firm will become the first light industry in the municipality.

The three-year variance is the first step toward action which would permit light industry on a permanent basis. Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman reported at the hearing on Princeton Electronics that the Township Committee believes such industry should be allowed into what is presently the "research and engineering" zone, provided certain performance standards are established. A resolution to that effect will be prepared after professional consultation on performance standards, such as noise, smoke, etc.

In its two-hour presentation before the Zoning Board, Princeton Electronics made it clear that it wanted to settle permanently in Princeton and that it would be willing to meet most any performance standards that are established. Nathaniel Schwartz, secretary and counsel of the firm, explained that Princeton had been chosen as the site for considerable research because it offered a major university and an atmosphere such that "the type of men we hope to bring into the company would find it very congenial."

As outlined by Dr. William Lynes, founder, principal financial backer and chairman of the board of PEC, the company would occupy the Skidmore Building at 178 Alexander Street for its pilot study and research. The immediate staff would number six or seven, climbing to 10-12 at the end of the year to a year and a half, he said.

Permanent Building Planned. The firm would start work on its permanent installation at the end of the next eight months, he added. Mr. Schwartz reported. This building, which would be located in the enlarged research and engineering zone next to North Harrison Street, would probably cost about $1.5 million and house some 35 workers.

The firm will begin by manufacturing high-speed diodes, aiming for the computer market. It hopes to expand into the "solid state" (as opposed to the older vacuum tube type) electronic devices and probably will also enter the fields of thermoelectrics (generating and utilizing natural gas, power) and plasma physics (aimed to the work now being done under Project Matterhorn at the Forrestal Research Center).

Tolson Dr. Lyons on the technical side of PEC will be technicians and engineers from several nationally-known electronic firms. The firm is planning a payroll of about $100,000 per month for the first year, with that figure rising to $345,000 per month by the fourth quarter of operation, Mr. Schwartz revealed.

It will turn the Skidmore building at 178 Alexander Street, presently used for selling and finishing furniture, into a pilot plant with "snow white" conditions, meaning that the interior of the building will have to be kept completely free from dust and dirt and the temperature and humidity controlled very closely. As Mr. Schwartz put it, the interior will be "more antiseptic than the operating room of a major hospital."

The Alexander Street pilot plant will produce neither noise nor smoke, Dr. Lyons claimed. In addition, he said, the new company will have more trouble with vibrations from heavy trucks on Alexander Street than the Township will with anything produced by the plant.

In granting the temporary variance, the Zoning Board imposed several restrictions which are being carried over into the final ordinance. Most important is the upper limit of 15 employees set by the Board for PEC. Mr. Alexander, Vice-Chairman of the Board, Gorden Griffen noted at the hearing that a restriction on the Intel work force was being considered for the ordinance.

The Zoning Board also stipulated that all liquid effluent should meet with the approval of the Joint Sewer Operators Committee and the Board of Health if it is emptied into the sewer, or the Board of Health only if emptied elsewhere. Similarly, all gaseous effluent must be approved by the Board of Health.

On the problem of noise, the Board has required PEC only to meet the regulations for the "S" noise level zoning, which is 55 decibels. Mr. Griffen indicated that it is the Committee's "hope and intent" that specific standards on noise and liquid and gaseous effluent may be established in the final ordinance.

NEW SERVICE OFFERED

By Princeton Employment. The Princeton Employment Agency has been licensed by the State to represent a representative of prospective employees, making it a complete employment agency. In the past it had been licensed only to serve as an employment fee basis.

The firm, which has offices at 92-A Nassau Street, has been in operation for about a year. It proposes to expand, opening branch offices in New Brunswick and Burlington.

At present Princeton Employment has "many openings and few applicants," according to operations manager Max Brown. The firm also offers special tours and shows. It also has publications slanted for conventions or salesmen's gatherings. In addition, he appeared for four years as a dancer on the television program "Side Caesar's Selections."

The work of a theatrical director is not too different from the work of a restaurant manager, Mr. Brown feels, because both concerned with the management of people. "I have merely moved from people, to people and steak," he says. Mr. Ross is the brother-in-law of Norman Aaronson, owner of The King's Court. He served briefly as manager when the restaurant first opened.

BUSY NASSAU PAINT STORE

Self Paint New Owner. A complete line of residential, commercial and industrial paint, finishes and paint supplies will be offered by the new Nassau Paint Store at 126 Nassau purchased from the former manufacturing company. The firm owns a chain of retail outlets and wholesale distribution centers.

In addition to the standard varieties of paint, the store will continue to offer the full range of artistic supplies which it carried for 12 years under its former owner.

The Nassau Paint Store has been owned and operated by William Steinmetz. Under his ownership it has been operated by John D. Prince, former manager of the Sollo Trenton retail store and formerly associated with Sherwin-Williams.

'FROM PEOPLE TO STEAK'

New Manager for King's Court. Jay Ross of New York, soon to be of Princeton, has been appointed manager of the King's Court restaurant. The Witherpoon Street luncheon and dining establishment has opened a terrace bar and is now serving cocktails on the terrace after dinner with dinner fee included with the accompaniment of a new FM radio.

Mr. Ross comes to the restaurant business from the theater. A dancer, director and choreographer, he has staged many shows as for sponors as Miller's High Life Beer and the American Diner. Some of his theatrical shows are productions staged for conventions or salesmen's gatherings. In addition, he appeared for four years as a dancer on the television program "Side Caesar's Selections."

The work of a theatrical director is not too different from the work of a restaurant manager, Mr. Ross feels, because both concerned with the management of people. "I have merely moved from people, to people and steak," he says. Mr. Ross is the brother-in-law of Norman Aaronson, owner of The King's Court. He served briefly as manager when the restaurant first opened.

NEW SALES MANAGER

At Turner Motors, William L. Bauer has assumed the position of sales manager at the Arthur J. Turner Motor Company, succeeding Leonard Dunk. The change came just after the firm was given the Chrysler franchise for Princeton.

Mr. Bauer started with Turner as a salesman three and a half years ago and was serving as assistant manager immediately prior to his promotion. He is a resident of Lambertville.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK—I
This is the first of a series of four articles on Princeton football prospects for 1960.

Numerous Positions Are Open When the Class of 1960 enrolled at Princeton, its reputation as a football class was already established to the campus. In the fall of 1956, when it proceeded to roll back a dozen opponents in a row without experiencing defeat, optimism about Princeton's future in Palmer Stadium increased.

It's not that an unbeaten freshman team inevitably means an Ivy championship—or the three years hence. However, given the more than ample material to support it from other classes on the varsity, one really standout group of players—particularly as a success—was the foundation for a championship season.

For a variety of reasons, the Class of 1960 has gone into Princeton football history as a disappointment. In the face of solid belief that it could lead Princeton into the thick of the Ivy pennant chase, the Tigers lost all but one of their games. November games, as a total deficit of some 37 points.

The Orange and Black finished 4-5, dropping to the wrong side of the .500 mark for the first time in 10 years. Clearly, the bottom had dropped out of the market that had boomed Princeton stock into the upper brackets of the Ivy League.

What Happened? A number of factors contributed to the slide downhill—two of them largely overlooked by many sideline critics. Long before the season began, in fact, actually two years earlier, injuries had removed the two best linemen from the Class of '60's eligible players.

Jim Stansbury, a fine end offensively and defensively, suffered a slight injury in his back, underwent an operation and sat out of his junior year, but his highly promising football career was over. Frank Schultz, as good a sophomore tackle as the Ivy League has seen in a long time, was part of the following year while battling recurrent headaches but eventually had to forego the sport. That long before the regular reported injuries began in September, Stansbury and Schultz were merely highly regarded names for whose places other players were being groomed.

Injuries also sidelined other key men for lesser periods—the durable Frank Svetec, who had led the team in game action for his first two seasons, took part in only one third of the 1957 Tigers' 13-7 plays last year. Dan Sachs, fine sophomore year proved to be the only one of three in which he was fully fit, and Dan Sprague was unavailable for more than two thirds of the season; Jay Cullen, despite the fact that he played more than the other quarterback combined, was not ready for all nine games—again so early.

A potentially fine backfield, blessed with more passing ability than any Princeton squad had in years, never capitalized on this threat as had been hoped. In a race to strengthen the nucleus of Princeton teams in the future, freshman coach Jake McCandless last spring was elevated to backfield coach, and will be on the staff at Elizabethtown in September.

Goodwin's contract to end this fall, possibly not affected by graduation. Glen Sveletec, a willing but light (170 pounds) was used in occasional relief of Stan Shaughnessy. Bill Bixby, a senior member of the 1960 freshman team, never rose above third place on the varsity depth chart and saw action last fall in only 47 plays.

Coaches: Frank Sveletec and Walt Kirm, the latter a real life-saver for the Tigers in 1959 when injuries persistently sidelined Captain Sveletec. Kirm, who had thought of leaving the team, did not report for the start of practice but actually logged more time (575 plays to 471) than Sveletec. DePoli will be a problem here, too.

Backs: Only three, but three extremely hard to replace. At quarterback, Jay Cullen is gone, after having graduated with his senior year and seeing more action than any member of the secondary save Mike Ippolito.

Ippolito graduated as a fullback, after having broken into the varsity in his sophomore year as a wingback and shifted to quarterback in his junior year. A triple-threat, his versatility and durability will be sorely missed.

Tailback Dan Sachs, who might well have set the Tigers off for their straight season record if his achievements in his sophomore year had not been repeated. After twice scoring three touchdowns in a game (against Cornell and Dartmouth) and winning an all-day battle, he was compelled to give up football because of injuries which affected his performance. Last fall, junior Hugh Scott led him in average yards gained per carry, in passing, and in total yards.

The Class of 1960 was a dream team as freshmen, and continued to be considered in much that same light until it was time to pick up the pieces of the disappointing season that marked its senior year. Princeton's problem is that, despite the lack of success last fall, 1960's graduation has created a major rebuilding chore that will require a long time to solve.

Next Week: The Sophomores.

DOROTHY KATZ WINS
In Tennis Tournament, Mrs. Dorothy Katz won the Ladies' Singles Tennis Tournament, held last week at the Princeton University Courts last week. The two finalists were among a field of 21 entries in the women's tournament.

In the semi-final round, Mrs. Katz downed Linda Corletti, 6-0, 6-0, while Mrs. Ashley topped Germaine Mueller, 6-1, 6-2. Richard Swinerton, Director of YMCA community tennis program, announced that a record number of 50 contestants is currently participating in the men's singles tournament, which will conclude Friday.

The next tournament for mixed doubles will open Monday and continue through the week. Entries for that competition are now being received. All entries may be made at the courts or at the YMCA offices and are due by Saturday morning, before the tournament begins.

A change in plans calls for both men's and women's doubles to begin on Monday, July 20. The —Continued on Page 27

WATER COMPANY WINS

In YMCA Junior Baseball League, The Princeton Water Company team won the championship of first place in the YMCA Junior Baseball League after one week's play. Paced by Jeff Sears' two hits, the Water Company team squelched edged Bonsai, 6-5, in the first contest of the season. Later in the week the Water Company downed Nassau Oil, 7-3.

Vince McCord got credit for both victories. In the second game, he fanned 12 batters. Earlier in the week, Nassau Oil routed Matthews, 11-4, behind the pitching of Rocky Vomacka.

Matthews trounced Bowers in their second game of the week by a score of 11-2. After the first week of play the Princeton Water Company was in first place with a 2-0 record, followed by Matthews and Nassau Oil with identical 1-1 marks. Bowers, sporting a 1-2 record.

B. E. Bergesen, Jr., YMCA Baseball Commissioner, announced last week that the Princeton Water Company had joined the three other sponsors in providing the youth circuit with financial support. Sixty-four boys are in uniform for the 1960 season.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED
For Hins School Football. An eight-game schedule for the 1960 football season has been announced by the Hins School. The Hins, directed by Hawkey Waterman, will open its season on October 1 in a contest with Pennington Prep.

The remainder of the schedule: Oct. 8, Pennington, home; Oct. 24, Germantown Friends, away;

Mosquitoes not Biting

The pleasant, cool weather prevailing in the area has been instrumental in the reduction of the mosquito population. A long rainy spell with humid weather could, however, mean a veritable onslaught of the winged pests.

The Mercer County Mosquito Extermination Commission is ready for such a bad-weather break and has been working hard to eliminate stagnant water and spraying polluted areas. Harold Black, the county's chief mosquito fighter, suggests that area pool owners drain their pools when the circulating system is turned off for any period over a week, as an anti-mosquito measure.

Stagnant water is a prime breeding place for the pests. Mr. Black pointed out, urging that no one should be afraid to stand unperformed for any length of time. Mosquito extermination has been proceeding in the county since March, with pools and streams first and now the 11,000 catch basins on streets and highways being treated. A five percent solution of DDT in fuel oil is used.

Oct. 22, Tower Hill, home; Oct. 26, Friends, away; Nov. 2, Princeton, away; Nov. 12, George School, away; Nov. 18, Delbarton, home. Co-captains for the coming season are Alan Lands and David Savidge, both seniors.

ARCHERY CLASSES SET

Will Use New Course. Registration is open for the Archery Classes of the Police Youth Program, scheduled to start the first week of August. The classes will be held on a new range constructed at the police station under the direction of the National Field Archery Association specifications.

Beginners' and junior division classes will be held at 6:30 Tuesdays. Women's classes will be held with those for intermediate and senior archers scheduled for Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. Tournaments will be held.

at the conclusion of the six week program.

The new archery range on River Road opposite the armory includes a building donated by Richard Conner of Greenbrook, Dr. John Bowers, Express Company, The Institute for Advanced Study, and Rosemarie, associated with the project and matched to speed construction of the course.

Interested individuals may register for the program at either Tower Hill or through police stations. There is no charge, and all equipment will be provided.

THEOLOGY INSTITUTE OPENS

800 Attend Seminar

Over 300 ministers and laymen are participants in the annual Institute of Theology, which began Monday at the Princeton Theological Seminary. The two-week program has as its theme this year "The Nature of the Christian Ministry."

Divided into four conference schedules are 12 elective courses, a series of lectures on the "Challenge to the Church," an evening preaching series and daily convocation. Robert M. Hodge is senior director of the Institute, while Prof. J. Christy Wilson is chairman of the Seminary's Faculty committee on the Institute of Theology.

Dr. James I. McDord, president of the Seminary, opened the institute Monday with an address on the "Christian Ministry." Next Monday, Dr. John M. McCracken, pastor of the Riverside Church of New York City, will deliver a special convocation address.

Dr. James I. McDord, president of the Seminary, opened the institute Monday, including Dr. Hubert N. Aleya, professor of chemistry at Princeton University, and Dr. Wilbert J. Beemer, Dr. Samuel W. Blitzer and Dr. Donald M. Lewis all of the Seminary faculty. Other faculty members range from Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, State Clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, to Dr. Andrew T. Durst, executive secretary of the National Christian Council of West Pakistan.

BULLETIN NOTES

Dr. Andrew Gib, founder and director of the Evangelize China Fellowship, will speak at the Wesleyan Chapel, Church Street, Hopewell, on July 10. Dr. Gib has established schools, orphanages and churches in eight Far Eastern countries. He was honored by the Nationalist Chinese government for his work in directing the relief of war orphans and refugee children during the Sino-Japanese war.

The Deacons of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church will sponsor a square dance on Saturday night, July 23, in the parking lot of the Craver Lane elementary school in Lawrenceville for the Church. Dr. George C. Estes, Dr. Hubert Leslie of Trenton will be the caller and refreshments will be available. Tickets may be obtained from Franklin Christian Church, Dr. Charles Hallinan, Jr., Ed Weisbecker, Raymond Allen, Burton Weisbecker, Harold Johnson, William Poinsett, Anne Booth, Joseph Hendler, Henry Kehler and Raymond Souders Jr., or by calling TW 6-0566.

Three young people from Lutheran of the Messiah will leave Sunday for a week at Upstate College, El Cajon, Calif., to learn how to direct youth activities more effectively. They are John Beldler of 200 Hamilton Avenue, president of the Youth League, and Ron and Linda Lane, secretary of the Youth League, and Nancy Goetz of 85 Magnolia Lane, chairman of publicity.

Kenneth L. Maxwell of 208 Laurel Circle is among the 400 delegates attending the seventh annual Women's Conference of the American Baptist Assembly this week at Green Lake, Wis. The conference is designed to train women to become more effective leaders.

SPORTSMEN WIN BIG ONE

Blank, Plainsboro, 2-0. In a contest which would have resulted in a first-place tie had runner-up Plainsboro won, the Sportsmen, led by the closest players, 24-year-old John B. Kalish, as well as with a one-hitter in the game Tuesday night, with Butch Chambers, the loser, yielding four hits and single runs in the first and third.

The Sportsmen also defeated Leo's during the week by a 7-1 count, but lost to fast-moving Green Gables, 8-1. Joe Fisher's two-hitter, led off the second, was the only hit of the game. The big one John Cardoner's triple with the bases loaded, Howie Silbwell also had a triple, while Bill Cooper went two for three.

Green Gables went through the week unbeaten, blanking the Teague's, 2-0, on Thursday, as Green Gables' one hit and trouncing Circle Esso, 9-2, on Tuesday. Before losing to the Sportsmen, Plainsboro picked up a 10-4 victory over Circle Esso and three days later, hung a 10-4 beating on the same team.

The above standings do not include Tuesday's game between Sannino's and Teague's, which was unreported at press time. The league has voted to play a fourth round, thus postponing the playoffs until August.

PAC STILL HUNTING

For First Victory, The Princeton Athletic Club goes after league-leading Hightstown-Cranbury this Thursday at 6:15 on Harris Field still hoping to break into the victory column. Runs are scarce for the last-place Princetonians, who dropped a game to Hightstown-Cranbury last Thursday, 6-2 and then were blanked, 1-0, by Montgomery on Tuesday.

John Mitchell was the loser in the slugging contest, the run score on a fielder's choice and a pair of costly foul-outs, thrown by Carter Petrone collected two of the PAC's four hits.

Hightstown-Cranbury replaced Montgomery in the league lead as the week began. South Brunswick was the runner-up, with the PAC now bogged down with an 0-6 record.

At Post 76 Wins Two

Taking all its games in the past week, Princeton Post 76, the American Legion, raised its season's mark to 6-2 and moved into a first place tie with Engine Co. No. 3 in the league. Legion, which won the first two games of the season, was blanked, 2-0, by the Mercer Engine nine (by an 8-5 margin) and Hook and Ladder, 22 to 3.

The Eagles also moved up by winning twice, defeating Hook and Ladder, 11-3, and trimming Engine Co. 1, 8-3. The Sportsmen split, conquering Engine Co. No. 11-10, but dropping a close contest to Engine Co. No. 3, 5-1.

Batting stars of the week included Kent Turner, who hit a home run to become the winning pitcher for the Sportsmen over Engine Co. No. 11, and Tom Torme of Post 76, in the one-sided victory over Hook and Ladder, he collected four hits, including a triple in four times at bat.

THRILL TO A NEW EXPERIENCE

with Diamond-Deb NAIL DRESSER

There's a new thrill in nail care in store for you when you glide the feather-light DIAMON-DEB Nail Dresser over your nails. Never before have you experienced the swift, yet gentle shaping action a level abrasive surface composed of countless tiny gem crystals can give to fingers or toes.

STOP NAIL SPLITTING AND PEELING!

What's more — Diamond-Deb prevents and corrects splitting and peeling nails. The secret is in the exclusive "DIAMALITE" surface that has no sharp edges which leave tiny indentations on nail ends, or cause nail layers to separate. No scratching or scraping or shock to sensitive nerves. And the pure nickel metal with its "DIAMALITE" surface is sanitary — can be sterilized without affecting its permanent rustproof surface! Works equally well whether nails are steel hard or paper thin, too! Essential in cases of "problem nails" to preserve the nail benefits gained from taking internal preparations.

Come in and try this professional proven and endorsed nailcure miracle — particularly if you have a nail problem! Available in 3 sizes: 4-inch purse or pocket size $1.00; 6-inch general purpose size $1.25; 8-inch Professional model $1.50.
